THIS WEEK.....

Connie Mustang and her Alter Ego

Some people are just too accomplished to be confined to one body. Connie Mustang is one of those people and she proves it by lending her voice to others in her work as a voice over artist. She is also a proud member of the Society of Children's Book Writers and Illustrators. Somehow, the word MULI-TALENTED seems to understate Connie's traits.

Last Week: Jim Rector

Last week, Jim Rector provided a glimpse of the work Rotarians do at the San Javier Clinic in Baja California. The photograph shows one of the countless volunteers who have provided assistance with the clinic. In this case, the volunteer is a prosthesis manufacturer from Riverside and the patient is a gentleman who lost his leg, above the knee, to diabetes. It was a match made in Rotary Heaven.

Kids still need polio vaccines and Rotary is there to do the Job!

With luck, 2013 could be the year polio is eradicated worldwide.

Throughout November:
