November 7, 2013 Issue #17 Editor: Dan Banh

This Week:

Meet the new Executive Director of the SGVYWCA, Miki Carpenter. Her background is in Public Health and Education and she has earned degrees from UC Irvine, ucla and USC. Miki's specialty is developing community-based programs with diverse communities. She also has held numerous community leadership positions. As a potential new member, let's give her a warm CRC welcome.

Next Week:

It's an All Clubs Day at the Field of Valor. Instead of having lunch at the same old, boring country club, we'll get to have lunch out by the Field of Valor and enjoy the fruits of our labor, the breathtaking sea of American flags. In & Out will be our caterer. The cost is $10 pp and Rich will not bill you for this. Bring check or cash only; otherwise, you will be turned away and that's no joke.

But prior to that, here is what we're going to do:

Tomorrow (Fri.): Bring a pair of work gloves and a hammer and head out to the field for some serious pounding.

Sat. morning at 8:30 am, meet at LDS Church on Grand Ave. for the important Flag Procession.

Start enjoying the FOV and all its festivities in between, esp. Opening Ceremonies on Sun., Veteran Day celebration on Mon. and Closing Ceremonies on the following Sat.; then come Sunday, 11/17, at 10 am, bring your work gloves again and help out with striking the field.

Last Week:

Frances Gilek introduced us to Love INC (Love in the Name of Christ), a non-profit organization which works with multiple affiliated local churches to better serve the needy. It provides, in addition to food, shelter and clothes, basic trainings to help those in need to find jobs. Love Inc. is unique in the sense that if they can't help you, they will find someone who can. It's a great place to start for those who are struggling in this troubled time.

Guess who is masked man? If you get it right, Fred M. will give you $20!

Side Note: Thanks Mickey K. for putting together the 1st Chili Cook-Off fundraiser. What a trooper!
