

THIS WEEK: GRADY REED

Prior to starting the Creative Cookbook Company in 1997, Grady Reed served as a missionary in the GWEMBE VALLEY in Zambia. His current focus is on raising money to assist the people in that area.

Here is what Grady wants you to know: I've chosen to help these CiTonga People with Clean Water Filters ($50 each) because they're inexpensive, light & easy to transport, and very effective in removing bilharzia, e-coli, salmonella, giardia, & other bacteria from polluted water. About half the little kids in the Gwembe Valley die from drinking polluted water.

On July 12th, Grady will be traveling to Zambia with as many filters as possible. Over the next two weeks, he will teach the local people how to use, clean, & maintain the filters. Each Waves for Water filter will purify water for 15-20 people a day and they should last 5-10 years. Grady's goal is to bring clean water to the region and give the CiTonga people a better quality of life.

Last Week:

Elizabeth Mullender gave us an overview of Clara Baldwin Stocker Home. As a direct descendant of Lucky Baldwin, she also provided an insider's look into her ancestors history.

Linda Logan also made a presentation about Field of Valor which began with Linda noting that Gordon Browning initially inspired her to find ways to help our veterans. For those who don't remember or were not yet in Covina Rotary, Gordon and Dan Banh co-chaired a committee in which they gathered things to send various troops we sponsored in Afghanistan and Iraq. Those packages went out on a regular basis and included everything from toilet paper to cookies.

IT IS ALMOST SUMMER. DO IT ROTARIAN STYLE!

International Conventions for Jon in 2014 & Andy in 2015

Kick outs for Tricia in 2014 and Jon in 2015

Jon Teran searching for Rotarians in the Australian surf and Shirley following their trail in Wyoming last summer.

